

Brigitta Wohlmuth Bio

My name is Brigitta Wohlmuth. I am an 18 year old high school student, about to graduate from Mount Saint Agnes Academy. I am a pretty academic student and I have just finished five Advanced Placement (AP) courses including; economics, calculus, French, Literature and Psychology. Apart from school I have a lot of other hobbies and interests. I have a passion for music and have been taking piano lessons for 15 years and voice lessons for 7 years. I sing with my school and church choir and have also participated in various school plays, concerts and other external productions. Apart from music, I also have a deep interest in writing and languages. My father is Austrian and I speak German pretty well, spending the last two summers living in the country while taking German courses. I have also just completed my AP French course and examination. I will be leaving for school in Vienna, about the last week of July. There I will continue my study of French, German and hopefully Italian as well as pursuing my interest in journalism. I aspire to one day be a successful international journalist and author, I also have a surfacing interest in advertisement.

I am a very social person as I enjoy being around and meeting with new people. I am easy going and very practical in a working environment. I have spent the past five years working at Miles Market as assistant supervisor of the Café Godiva Bar, and also filling various other positions in the store. On a lighter note my hobbies include singing, dancing, listening to music, and hanging out with friends.
